New county engineer Mark Pool discusses with commissioners ways to save federal road funds for Coffee County.

Plan to loan federal funds to other counties will save over $241,000

The Coffee County Commission met in regular session on Tuesday, May 26, at the courthouse in Enterprise and agreed to approve a plan proposed by incoming county engineer Mark Pool to allow three counties to borrow federal funds allocated to Coffee County and to repay the county out of funding for the next fiscal year.

Pool, who will take his position with Coffee County on June 15, was at Tuesday's meeting and told the commission that after checking at the state level he had discovered that the county would lose over $241,000 in federal road funds and federal bridge funds unless a plan could be approved during the month of June.

The engineer explained that the federal funds were allocated for the county last October, and if plans weren't finalized prior to July the funds would not be available to be used. Pool stated the county did have plans on record for one paving project and the funds for the project were safe; however, he stated that the only way to keep from losing the remaining funds would be to work out a deal with another county to let that county borrow Coffee County's share and then recoup the money when the next year's allocations are released. Pool said he had discussed the plan with a number of engineers across the county and had verbal commitments for such a plan.

The commission accepted the proposal and agreed that although the county would lose almost $15,000 in the swap of funds, the smaller amount was better than losing the entire $241,000.

Pool told the commissioners that when the funds were repaid and combined with the county's annual federal funds for the next fiscal year, the county would have over $300,000 to use for various road and bridge projects.

Bids were opened at the bi-monthly meeting for base and paving materials to be used at the Wren Strickland Road and the Harold Godwin Road. Low bidder on the two projects was Hooper Construction with a total bid of $82,649, while Wiregrass Construction was the only other bidder. The Strickland Road will cost approximately $49,500 to pave and the Godwin Road approximately $44,500.

In other action at the meeting, the commission:

- voted 4-2 to officially employ Mark Pool as county engineer, with Eugene Bradley and Jimmy Bryan voting against the motion to reaffirm their stand against the terms of the contract;
- authorized Kenneth Ball to be the agent for the weatherization program in the county;
- approved a resolution seeking Rep. Jimmy Holey's help in introducing legislation that would allow all the funds from the county's "pilot" permit fund to go to the sheriff's department, with the understanding the sheriff must report total permit receipts annually;
- heard Commissioner Bradley state the county needed to re-stripe recently-resurfaced roads in the county and make plans to stripe all roads;
- agreed to grass the Farris gully at a total cost of $4,400;
- was told the Bird Mill Loop Road would be closed to school buses due to the condition of a bridge on the road;
- heard Commissioner Bryan report that road work needed to be done on County Roads 37, 60, 21 and 58 as soon as possible;
- agreed to place danger signs to warn motorists of the road conditions at various sites in the county;
- adopted a resolution supporting the efforts of a group to improve the condition of Highway 84 and went on record in opposition of a plan to reroute the highway south of Elba;
- and approved the minutes of the previous meeting.

Petition filed with PSC to stop local bus route

A petition filed by Capitol Motor Lines, seeking permission to abandon bus service between Elba and Florida via Opp and Andalusia is to be heard on July 9 by the Alabama Public Service Commission.

Capitol Motor Lines filed the original petition on May 8; however, the Public Service Commission stated a public hearing on the matter would be desirable and also ordered the bus lines to produce certain additional information prior to a June 29, 1987, deadline. The hearing will take place at the PSC office at Montgomery at a time to be announced at a later date.

The information requested included actual passenger counts on the schedules to be abandoned, including the number of passengers off and on at the points served and including all interstate and intrastate passengers for a representative period of time as well as annualized figures based on the actual passenger counts. The petitioner is to also produce mileage for each run and daily mileage in Alabama for each run, and the figures showing current, overall revenue per passenger mile generated from scheduled service.

In the action at the meeting, the commission:

- voted 4-2 to officially employ Mark Pool as county engineer, with Eugene Bradley and Jimmy Bryan voting against the motion to reaffirm their stand against the terms of the contract;
- authorized Kenneth Ball to be the agent for the weatherization program in the county;

Kinston man sentenced to 20 years for abuse

A 60-year-old Kinston man was sentenced to 20 years in prison last week by Circuit Judge Gary McAlley after a jury found the man guilty of first degree sexual abuse involving a 4-year-old boy.

Durwood Brasher was charged with numerous counts of sexual abuse and sodomy involving a 4-year-old boy that he had babysat over a number of years and the jury returned a guilty verdict in the sexual abuse charge, while a mistrial was declared in the sodomy charge.

In sentencing Brasher to the maximum charge of sexual abuse under the Habitual Offender Act, Judge McAlley stated, "You were growing in the house and yard. Terry was then charged with possession of marijuana."

Terry was placed in the Coffee County Jail.

Brasher, who was convicted in 1970 of enticing a child under the age of 16 to enter a house for immoral sexual purposes, is being held in the Coffee County Jail awaiting a decision on whether the sodomy charges will be re-tried.

Florida fugitive captured in Coffee County

A Florida fugitive was apprehended and arrested last week by Coffee County officials and additionally charged with a drug charge after arresting officers discovered marijuana plants growing at the man's home.

Coffee County Sheriff Brice Paul stated that authorities from Tallahassee, Fla., were searching for a suspect who had allegedly "stolen" his 6-year-old child and had warrants for the arrest of Henry Charles Terry, age 46.

The sheriff stated that when officials arrived at the home where Terry was with the child, the officials discovered 30 marijuana plants ranging from two inches to three feet

Elba council to study bids on garbage pickup

The Elba City Council met Tuesday at 5 p.m. after delaying the meeting one day due to the city holiday. However, council members Jack Prescott and Gladys Yelverton were absent from the meeting.

The two main items of business were the appointment of a new school board member and the opening of new bids on the daily garbage pickup. The city council also approved the advertising for bids on a new heating and cooling system for the police department and heard a complaint from an Ann Street resident concerning a drainage problem.

The council received only two bids on the garbage pickup and each bid on the service for the three options requested by the city council. Waste Away, present holder of the contract, and Scientific Industries were the only firms offering a bid. The city requested bids in three different ways:

- 1) Pick up all commercial and residential trash and
- 2) Residential garbage only.

The bids are to include the current 75 cents per customer landfill fee and would increase if the county increased the landfill charges.

Prior to the bid opening, Mayor Bob English requested the council open the bids and delay accepting either until they had been studied closely by a committee of the council members present. This was agreed upon and a special meeting has been set for Friday at 4 p.m. to accept the low bid.

Following the opening and reading aloud of the two bids, English stated that Scientific Industries was the apparent low bidder, but no vote was taken until the committee can meet and study the bids.

Elba is presently paying Waste Away $6.88 for picking up residential garbage and trash. That same service will cost $9.40 from Waste Away under the new contract and $7.93 from Scientific. Waste Away has told city officials they were losing money under the existing contract and the expense was to increase since the county has required that all garbage and trash be separated.

The new contract bidding was required because of major changes in the signed contract and the bids requested after the awarding of the bid. The city and Waste Away had agreed to go ahead with the service until an opinion was received from the attorney general on the legality of the changes.

Waste Away bid $11.00 per unit to pick up all residential and commercial garbage and trash. Scientific bid $9.26 for the same service. Waste Away bid $9.40 for residential-only garbage and trash while Scientific bid $7.93 for the same service. Waste Away bid $6.15 to pick up only residential

Missing boy found near home

A 13-year-old boy missing for two days last week was discovered in a vehicle near his home by relatives, ending a massive manhunt that included the use of a helicopter from Ft. Rucker.

Coffee County Sheriff Brice Paul reported that John Lawrence was reported missing from his home in the Brooksville Community, located 12 miles west of Elba, on Tuesday, May 19, and a manhunt ensued that involved approximately 50 residents of the community, members of a Coffee County Sheriff's Dept. and a helicopter from Ft. Rucker. The hunt continued all day on Wednesday as the search party covered the wooded area near the home and the youth was discovered on Thursday morning, May 21, at approximately 4:30 a.m. in a vehicle owned by the boy's aunt in the nearby Curtis Community.

Elba escapee now at Kilby

An Elba Work Release escapee that was recaptured last week at the home of his sister in Washington County was returned to Kilby Correctional Facility following the arrest.

It was reported in last week's Elba Clipper that the inmate would be returned to the Elba facility; however, Elba Work Release Director Ed Collier stated this week that in the case of all escapees, the prisoners are returned to state prisons following their arrest.

Brainstorms

By Ferrin Cox, Publisher

Summer vacation time is here for both teachers and students. We don't know which is the happiest this year... the student or the teacher. We have heard an unusually large number of teachers commenting about how tired they are and ready for the rest. Of course the children are all ready for something to take them from the classroom and homework.

We don't know which candidate to support for president next time around. Thus far we just don't have a candidate we can get behind. Reading all the news reports we find our opinion is in the majority, and that ain't good. By this time in the political season, we need to have one or two strong front-runners, which we don't have.

We tried to defend Gary Hart and that model he got into so much trouble with last month, but have given up. When neither he nor she denied that truth of the photos of the young lady sitting on his lap... we just gave up. She reportedly said something about she didn't know who made those pictures, but a lot of tourists were excited over Senator Hart. But she didn't deny sitting there.

We have all just about beat the TV preacher problems into the ground and are sure all the publicity has hurt collections for the tube preachers. One man gave us a legitimate complaint last week when he noted very little has been said about the radio and TV preachers who do not get up there and beg for money. Well, he is right. They are there and deserve our consideration. It costs money to pay for the broadcasts, but they raise their money elsewhere.

We had a special invitation to sample the food at the new Mr. Pizza one night this week and took them up on it. Heddy and I tried different foods and ate off each other's plate to get a better sampling of the goodies available and came away full and contented. We thank them for the treat.

Charlie Zimmerman is in the hospital having some surgery. We are thinking about our friend during this time... the rascal.

Tort reform is still dominating the Alabama legislature. We were surprised at the speed the package passed the Alabama House but then public opinion is for some relief and those legislators are politicians and experts at reading the will of the people. The lobbyists for both sides have gotten into the debate now and the Senate is taking longer to pass the bills. We hope the changes they are making are actual improvements for the public and not for a few lawyers, doctors or insurance companies either.

The local hospital is holding a reception Sunday afternoon for the new administrator Paul Grummer and his lovely wife, who is also a health professional. We urge our readers to drop by the hospital Sunday afternoon between the hours of two and four and meet the Grummers. They are nice folks.

The U.S. Navy ship hit by the missile fired from an Iraqi airplane lost 37 crewman in the attack. We hate anyone died, but it didn't come as a shock. The U.S. is constantly sending our troops into areas of heated debate, and in such situations we are going to continue to see our soldiers die. The only thing that would stop someone, somewhere, from getting killed by "the other side" is for someone to come up with the magic to eliminate any sides... and that occasional nut that kills for killing's sake.

"Green County Tech has one of the top band programs in northeast Arkansas," stated Davis, "and it will be a challenge to keep building the program and make it better than ever. The band will march approximately 120 members and has only recently become one of the state's top organizations. It will be a challenge to continue to improve the band program, but it is the type challenge I like and I'm looking forward to meeting it head-on."

"The move is both a career move and a chance to get back to Arkansas," added Davis, a native of the state. "The school is located only a couple of hours from the homes of both my parents and my wife's, and it will be nice to be closer to home. The system also has employed my wife as a teacher."

When asked about his 2-year stay in Elba, Davis stated, "Elba had an excellent band program before I came and it will continue to have an excellent program after I leave. The kids in Elba were just super to work with and the band boosters did outstanding work. However, the move was one I felt I couldn't pass up, and I'll begin my duties July 1."

Spring Cleaning Kept Me From My Playhouse

By: Kaye Brown

I don't like spring cleaning; I never have. I think the main reason is that it keeps me from my playtime, from the things I "like to do." It's done it ever since I was a kid.

Daddy'd let us "knock off" grubbing in the new ground about noon on Saturdays. I'd race in home with a new spirit of energy, my mind set on building up the pine straw walls of my pasture playhouse. But Mama'd have other plans: the kitchen floor needed its spring cleaning bad.

Now in those days the whiter you kept your kitchen floor the higher you were esteemed in the community as a good housekeeper. Mama wasn't about to let her position suffer. First we kids were sent to the barn to stuff the holes in the old mop with new corn shucks. Then we'd sprinkle snowy white sand around the kitchen floor (and when Mama wasn't looking Bill'd sling some in my eyes).

The scalding water left in the washtub from Mama's morning wash was next brought in and sloshed around. Notwithstanding the contrabutions made by the sand, the hot water, and the lye soap... our elbow grease was the most important part of the job. Mama'd keep us there for an eternity - bending, rubbing, scrubbing (and sneaking in a little skating with bare feet across the soap-slicked floor, in defiance of the giant splinters lurking there).

Our really lucky break was the wide cracks between the boards; the gallons of water we drew to rinse the sand away was able to drain right through the floor.

I could just never seem to get my fill of play. Why, when Bill and I were still young enough to "turn fruit jars into cars and the house was called from fun to clean the house. On rainy days just as we'd crawled under the tall-pillowed house and gotten our Mason-Ball-caravan moving well along their dusty trails - well, about that time Mama'd call us in to dust the furniture.

We had to put some stinky kerosene on an old rag and chase the dust from every little rung on the straight chairs with the sagging cane bottoms. And we'd have to carefully polish up Mom's prize, the Singer sewing machine that sat summers in the hall.

"Sunning the beds" at Mama's house meant every living soul arose at dawn, picked up their bed and walked. We walked... lugged and carried... every single mattress we owned outside and laid them all around. We laid them on sawhorses with boards, on slabs laid across big backsticks (that had been stood upright for the honor), and sometimes - when these were exhausted - we laid them atop stubby bushes which grew at yard's edge.

Once the mattresses were soaking up the sun, we brought the beddings which, in those days, showed their metal to the world. These were leaned against the house to be briskly swept, then aired the whole day long.

With the beds all removed we then took curtains from the windows and vigorously swept down all the walls. (The curtains were just laid aside - we washed, starching and smoothing up with flat irons could well take all abody's day.)

Those sunning-the-bed days would come close to edging out all playtime under the best of circumstances. But one year something happened to turn it from a job into a nightmare... and yet it was a blessing that the terrible event came on a Springtime Saturday instead of a winter Wednesday.

Mama started groaning under her breath, fearful, as soon as I woke her in the wee hours of the morning, saying something was biting me dead. She lit the lamp on the dresser, flop-popped my mattress backwards, and started prying around the crinkled edges where the ticking was stitched. Grasping a tiny bug between her fingers she said, "Oh, no, just what I was afraid of... chinchies." My puzzled look was answered in a low sort of voice, more like shame than fear she'd awaken others.

At breakfast that morning, where I realized there'd be no playing house that Saturday, Mama told us not to say a word about the bugs at school, or to anyone for that matter. But then she went on, attempting to assure us it wasn't a disgrace. She said having chinchies on your bed was "like having the itch... not a disgrace to get, but a disgrace to keep." And although she wasn't one to speak ill of the neighbors usually... she did figure we'd gotten the dreadful things from the folks that moved down the road a piece. The two kids who'd been up and spent the night a while back hadn't seemed too clean to her... they could have brought along the chinch eggs in their night clothes.

Well, like I said it was a good thing that it was spring... and Saturday. That day went far beyond the bounds of an ordinary "sunning-the-beds" day. We knocked and beat the mattresses something fierce... we covered every inch of every one, searching out their hiding nooks. It was your proverbial searching-for-a-needle-in-a-haystack search.

We put paper underneath the metal springs and set it afire, running them out with heat. Then, for good measure, we doused the springs with boiling water which was strong with Red Devil's Lye. When all was inside that night we put a generous sprinkling of bean-beetle-dust between the springs and mattress of each bed.

I guess our slaving did pay off - that was the last we heard of the awful chinch bugs and their bites.

I usually write my weekly column on Sunday nights after supper; however, this week I got interested in a Perry Mason movie and by the time it was over, all I had time to do was catch up on some regular sports news and crawl into bed in an attempt to get ready for a very busy week. So, if the column is a little shorter than usual, just consider yourself lucky!

WEEKEND SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT FEATURES 50 GAMES

A total of 26 softball teams competed in last weekend's Elba Junior Varsity Cheerleader Softball Tournament, and after 50 games played back-to-back the tournament ended almost 20 minutes ahead of time at 12:10 a.m. on Sunday morning. Twenty-two of the 26 teams in the tournament were from out-of-town, which brought a whole bunch of folks into Elba for the day and made the cheerleaders as well as the merchants winners as far as making a little money was concerned!

The Geneva Merchants won the tournament in grand fashion as they blasted every team they played and never allowed an opponent to score more than three runs the entire tournament. To say the Merchants won the tournament would be an understatement - the Merchants totally dominated the tournament and every team entered! Cook Chevrolet of Elba placed second in the big event and played well enough to win most tournaments. Cook claimed wins over teams from Ft. Walton Beach, Fla., and Phenix City during the long day, not to mention wins over several local teams, and really represented Elba well; as did the Elba Merchants, City Merchants and Deli D'lite, all of whom posted wins in the strong field. The Elba teams showed the teams from all across south Alabama and Florida that they play pretty good ball!

In wrapping up the event, the cheerleaders did an outstanding job in bringing the teams to town to compete, and when you play a total of 50 games in less than 16 hours, it's obvious the organization was superb. The tournament was as good as Elba when the time rolls around for next year's event, I'm sure it will be even better!

SOFTBALL TOURNAMENTS BRING PLENTY OF PEOPLE TO TOWN

There have been two tournaments in Elba this summer, which have brought a total of 57 teams to Elba for at least one solid day to buy gas, soft drinks and food, as well as enjoy watching ball games at the city's beautiful recreation complex. Of the 57 teams in the tournaments, 50 were from out-of-town, and when you consider each team had at least 10 players - many much more - and most of the players brought their families, I'd guess the tournaments brought over 1,000 people into Elba. I know that every body isn't into softball and couldn't care less if any tournaments are held, but from the standpoint of bringing people into town, there is nothing better!

NO-HITTER HIGHLIGHTS MEN'S SOFTBALL ACTION IN LOCAL LEAGUE

A no-hitter in baseball is a rarity, but one in softball is almost unheard of because it is so easy to hit a softball. Well, sometimes it's easy! Last week Cook Chevrolet defeated Budweiser 12-1 in a league game and Cook's Greg Ellenburg tossed a no-hitter. Cook made a couple of errors that let Bud score their only run, but not one single hitter managed to get a base hit the entire ball game. I've pitched in softball and realize the pitcher can't really take much credit for how a game turns out; however, I bet it was a game Greg will talk about forever, and his pitches will get better and better as the days go on.

BASEBALL ACTION IS HOT AND HEAVY IN YOUTH LEAGUES

As the weather heats up, so do the games being played at Legion Field involving the teams in the Dixie Youth and Babe Ruth baseball leagues. There are too many games to mention each one in my column (look under the league highlights), but I will take time each week to at least take a quick look at what happened in both leagues. Here goes...

DIXIE YOUTH - The Cardinals remained undefeated with a pair of 10-9 wins and are now in sole possession of first place. The Cards have a solid ball club, both offensively and defensively, and hit the ball as well as any team in the league in a number of years. The Cardinals lost every game they played two years ago when these same players were rookies, but they didn't forget all the losses and are finally getting a chance to pay some folks back!

BABE RUTH - The White Sox suffered through a couple of bad years recently and weren't expected to be the team to beat this season, but Coach Jimmy DuBoise has worked the players hard and they have responded by winning 7 of their 8 games. The Sox have been a little lucky in a couple of games; however, when you have a winning attitude it's contagious and all the players on the White Sox team believe they will win every time they hit the field. No matter how the season ends, Coach DuBoise and his players deserve a lot of credit for a great season!

ATHLETIC CLUB NEEDS THE SUPPORT OF EVERYONE

I turned over the reins of the Elba Athletic Club to Dr. Billy Farris last week and after serving as president of the club for the past four years, I can tell you it will be enjoyable to be able to just sit back and help for a change! Dr. Farris has a lot of super ideas for the club and all his ideas are centered around getting more people involved in the everyday activities of the organization. The Athletic Club pumps approximately $20,000 a year into the total athletic program at Elba High School and the coaches will tell you in a hurry that they couldn't get along without it. The money goes to help all sports, as well as the cheerleaders, which means everyone in Elba should be willing to help for one reason or another. The citizens of Elba do more than they're asked as far as giving money goes, and that's what makes the world go 'round, but to have a really good club, active members are needed who are willing to work, and I urge everyone to help Dr. Farris and the club become even better than ever!

IN CLOSING...

I know I mentioned it a couple of weeks ago, but the city needs to make plans to totally renovate the recreation park at Mulberry Heights! Games have been played at the park's softball field in both tournaments this summer and the condition of the field was a source of controversy at both events, but that alone is not why the park should be renovated. The most important reason is to give the residents of the Mulberry Heights area a nice place to take their kids to play, and to give all the people of Elba a park they can be proud of. There is plenty of land at the Mulberry Park to build children's activity centers, such as swings and various things to play on, and the ball field should be kept up just as well as the others in town, which means cutting the grass and doing work on the infield and lights. I'm not upset because some teams fussed about having to play at the field - I'm upset because the citizens of Elba deserve good facilities at all the parks across town, and the Mulberry Park should be the first on the list for renovations!

ALFA

INSURANCE

Now Farm Bureau Insurance is Alfa Insurance.

After 40 years, Farm Bureau Insurance is changing its name to Alfa Insurance. It's a pretty big change, but it really won't change much. You see, only the name is changing. The people, the policies and the great, low rates you've always known stay the same.

Why change the name? Because you've changed, and so have we. Our company began in 1947 when the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation wanted to protect Alabama farm families and their property. Today, we insure hundreds of thousands of people, rural and urban, in all walks of life. Not just farmers, but teachers, businessmen, lawyers, secretaries, shipbuilders, doctors, policemen...

Our new name, Alfa, comes directly from the source of our roots, the Alabama farmer. It's a direct link with our heritage that will give us the freedom to grow and change with your policies, holders and their needs.

It's true. The more things change, the more they stay the same.

A new name for an old friend.

Round And About With Eria

897-2006

And he spoke a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint, saying, There was in a city a judge, which feared not God, neither regarded man. And there was a widow in that city and she came unto him, saying, Avenge me of mine adversary. And he would not for a while, but afterward he did within himself, Though I fear not God, nor regard man, yet because this widow troubleth me, I will avenge her, lest by her continual coming she weary me. And the Lord said, Hear what the unjust judge saith, and shall not God avenge his own elect, which cry day and night unto him, though he bear long with them? Luke 18:1-7.

Good Luck Graduates

Board Members Reflect On Cooperative's Anniversary

South Alabama Electric Cooperative will celebrate its 50th anniversary on June 17, with open house from 3-6 p.m.

The Board of Trustees for South Alabama Electric Cooperative are proud to be a part of the cooperative's 50th anniversary.

Marion Sanders, president of the Board of Trustees believes that South Alabama Electric is responsive to the membership. Sanders, a board member since 1973, feels that his job as a trustee is to represent the people in his area, to keep the cooperative solvent and to provide a quality service for the members. He also represents South Alabama Electric Cooperative on the board of trustees for Alabama Electric Cooperative, the wholesale supplier.

Robert Barbaree, vice president of the Board of Trustees, feels that the cooperative is blessed with good management and employees. He sees the board as providing direction for the manager.

J.A. Young was appointed to a surveying committee by James E. Brown, field representative from REA on March 4, 1937. Young was elected to the cooperative's Board of Trustees in 1948 and has served in that capacity since. He remembers the days when board meetings were held on Saturdays. When he returned home on Saturday evenings, he would work all night in the cotton gin trying to make up for the time he had been away at the board meeting.

According to Young, "I am proud to be a part of a cooperative that has been so successful in relations to its members, and I have enjoyed working with the people throughout the cooperative service area."

Trustee James R. Shaver feels that South Alabama Electric is headed toward being a more service-oriented cooperative. The first 50 years saw tremendous changes in life styles, and people couldn't be living the way they are without electrical service. "We are serving a changing membership," he said.

"More members are coming from occupations other than farming."

Thomas Ray Sims has served as a trustee since 1963. He feels that the 50th anniversary serves as a reminder of what can actually be accomplished when a group of people put their minds together to have taken rural areas from a point where electricity wasn't available 50 years ago, to the point where there is little difference in urban and rural standards of living. The 50th anniversary serves as a reminder of the spirit of the people who made this happen.

As trustee, Leo Williams feels that the 50th anniversary is a real landmark - that a people-oriented company, formed by farmers to meet their needs by working together, has developed into an ongoing electric cooperative.

Jessie Salter has been a trustee since 1974, and as a trustee he hopes to keep rates affordable. Because of the changes in membership, South Alabama Electric Cooperative is becoming more service- and member-oriented, without losing sight of the cooperative's original goal of supplying electricity at the lowest possible cost, Salter noted.

Trustee Norman D. Green believes that South Alabama Electric Cooperative has reached an important point in history - the 50th anniversary of rural electrification in his area. "South Alabama Electric is building on many new positive things," he said. He said he feels that the key to the next 50 years is staying abreast of new technology - such as satellite TV. "Education will also continue to be an important part of the next 50 years," he said.

The public is invited to attend the Open House.
